

“Have you ever felt like you just can't be bothered?”

The Middle Bit

Written and performed by Edward Rapley

Directed by Holly Stoppit

I had lost sight of my dream. What did I want to do with my life? Beset by anxiety I decided to make a show about being lost. Then things got really bad.

In this funny and thoughtful show notorious Bristol performer Edward Rapley attempts to overcome his own lazy demons...and fails.

Loaded with humour and pathos, this one man show is unlike anything else. Mixing autobiography, stand-up comedy and theatre with searing honesty, utter stupidity, and great comic timing.

The Middle Bit is part two of a trilogy of shows, that starts with 10 Ways to Die on Stage and ends with Who Knows Where.

"A witty insight into the traumas of the individual" Suityourself Magazine on The Middle Bit

The Middle Bit was a sell-out success at Bristol's Mayfest. Edward is a Supported Artist of The Basement, Brighton; an Arnolfini Associate Artist and a founding member of Residence.org.uk

Performed in Aberystwyth, Birmingham, London, Edinburgh and Bristol
